County Court.

Comparatively little business was done last week, the jury being excused and court took a recess till Monday afternoon. Several court cases were disposed of however, and the rest of the court cases will no doubt be taken care of this week. There remain two cases for which special juries have been drawn which are set for trial in April.

School Meeting Last Evening.

A school meeting for the election of a trustee to serve out the unexpired term of O. H. Mossman, resigned was held at the schoolhouse last evening. Wallace H. Gilpin was elected. The article regarding the raising of the school tax was passed over and this with all other school matters will be taken up at the regular meeting in June which will be a law passed by the last legislature is set for the annual school meetings hereafter. Fully an hour's discussion of school matters took place which was very instructive to all concerned.

Le Beau Lac Boat Club Banquet.

Le Beau Lac club met Thursday night at the club house for a very enjoyable time. The Willoughby Fish and Game club were invited as guests for the evening and about 25 responded. A fine banquet was served by Geo. Goodro and corps of assistants, to which about 70 sat down. A variety of fine entertainment followed. Very unique illustrated programs were designed and mimeographed by Dr. Hastings. W. W. Reiden acted as toastmaster and toasts were responded to by several from the visiting club as well as by members of the local club. Vocal solos were rendered by C. E. Webster and clarinet and violin duet by Messrs. Lang and Webster, and excellent music was interspersed through the program by the orchestra. The evenings entertainment closed with beautiful stereopticon views of Yellowstone Park shown by Prof. Stannard. A spirit of good fellowship was very evident. The evening was a success from every point of view.

Hon. Martin Beard Chafey.

As the sun was setting behind the mountains last Tuesday, the 21st inst. there passed away at his home in the town of Albany the Hon. M. B. Chafey. Although he had not been in good health for a few years, yet the end came unexpectedly from an attack of pneumonia, after an illness of nine days. Martin Beard Chafey was born in Albany on May 11th, 1842. He was, therefore, in his sixty-ninth year. His parents were Hiram and Asenath (Kendall) Chafey, some of the pioneer settlers of the town of Albany, and among those who sowed the seed of that which is best in our New England life.

From early manhood Mr. Chafey showed a taste for mercantile pursuits. He began his business career with a clerkship of about a year in a store in Derby Line, and then enlarged his experience by serving a similar period in a wholesale house in Boston. At the age of twenty-four he formed a partnership with his brother, Hiram W., and the firm conducted a general store at West Albany village from 1866 until the death of his brother in 1882. Since this latter date Mr. Chafey has carried on the business by himself. For more than two generations "Chafey's Store" has been the customary shopping place of many farmers' families for miles up and down the Black river valley and along the adjacent hillsides.

But Mr. Chafey was not merely a merchant. Throughout his life he was actively interested in all public affairs, held many public offices and faithfully performed his full duty as a citizen. Continuously for twenty years (1866-1886) Mr. Chafey served as postmaster at Albany, losing the appointment upon the coming in of the present administration of Pres. Cleveland. His town long honored him with its most important offices. He was town clerk for thirty-five years, having been first elected to that office in 1876. For eighteen years he was also treasurer of the town. Both of these offices he held at the time of his death. For many years he was lister, and at various times he also held other town offices. In 1890 he represented the town of Albany in the General Assembly, and attended the extra session of 1891. In 1898 the county of Orleans elected him with an election to the Vermont senate. As a member of the legislature he was popular, active and gained the personal friendship of a great many of the leading men of the state. Mr. Chafey was one of the incorporators and a trustee of the Barton Savings Bank & Trust company.

In 1867 Mr. Chafey married Jennie Wilson Mitchell of Craftsbury, who survives him. Of this marriage were born four children, Don M., who died in infancy; Agnes C., for many years her father's business assistant and now appointed town clerk and treasurer to succeed him; Roland E., assistant treasurer of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company and Marjorie E., now Mrs. Wm. H. Stevens of St. Johnsbury.

His quiet geniality made Mr. Chafey the friend of all who knew him, and his devotion to the public welfare brought him to become the foremost citizen of his town, one of the leading men of the county and one of those whose lives have made the state of Vermont what it is today.

The funeral was held at Mr. Chafey's late home, and the body was laid at rest in the village cemetery in the valley where nearly his entire life was passed. Many friends and relatives from near and far were present. A host of friends will mourn with the members of the broken family circle. Those who attended the funeral from out of town were Roland Chafey of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stevens of St. Johnsbury, Herbert Cowles of Mansfield, Mass., Clarence Cowles of Burlington, Edward Gallagher of Hardwick, James Gallagher of Craftsbury, E. W. Barron, F. W. Baldwin, H. R. Cutler, and C. B. Webster of Barton, F. M. Sears and G. W. Russell of Irasburg, Charles Williams and Olin Rowell of South Albany.

Song of Vermont in March, 1911.

Sing a song o' weather,
Plenty and to spare,
Old Vermont ain't selfish,
She will gladly share.
Snow drifts all around us,
Eight and ten feet deep,
"Neath 'em we're supposin'
That the grasses sleep.

Sing a song o' weather,
Cold enough to freeze!
Just to think about it
Makes a body sneeze.
Wind a blowin' fiercely,
Snow a fallin' fast;
Seems to keep a comin'
Guess its goin' ter last.

Sing a song o' weather,
Scarcely a fence in sight;
Just a rollin' prairie
All in frosty white.
Snow up ter the winders,
Sometimes ter the eaves,
When we should be lookin'
For arbutus leaves.

Sing a song o' weather,
April almost here,
And the landscape lookin'
Like mid-winter drear.
Tain't no use in sayin'
That we think its fun,
This ere kind o' weather,
And the way it's run.

Sing a song o' weather,
As it oughter be,
Balmy breezes blowin'
Over wood and lea.
Pussies settin' sunnin'
On the willer bough,
That's the way it's now,
Tain't the way 'tis now.

Sunday and Monday were very mild days, in fact considerable rain fell on Monday, and the really first spring like days were enjoyed. However the weather has not yet moderated enough so that sugar is being made to any extent. Some have not yet tapped their sugar orchards. Contrasting this year with last we find that considerable plowing had been done at this time last year and some grain had been sown, a few gardens planted and in general the season was at least a month earlier.

Michael Dacre, whose funeral occurred March 5th, was born in Leeds, England June 5, 1858. He came to this country when a young man of 17 years of age, and has lived in the town of Barton ever since. With his mother he lived on their farm about two miles toward South Barton. After her death he and his half sister, Miss Ellen Gatt, continued to live on the home place. A few days before his death he was taken ill with pneumonia which quickly carried him off. He was buried at South Barton cemetery. Rev. W. A. Warner officiated.
